In Your Corner 2/25/08 “PCW/Family First”

The CCW Executive Management Team took a road trip this weekend. Made our way into Northern California to the Town of Oroville for the PCW show this past Saturday Night. As we normally do when we attend another fed's show, we quietly sat in the back to scout talent, and tried as much as possible not to draw attention to ourselves. Our goal is to see how the talent performs, and how everyone else does a show, without being an intrusion or hindrance to what is planned.

Have to admit we were impressed with the show overall. The matches seemed to be well thought out and the 30 man, over the top rope battle royale (can't bring myself to use Vince's name for it) was well paced and allowed us to see a huge array of the best of Northern California even if it was only for a few minutes.

Thanks to the talent that took time to speak with us after the show. We will be attempting to show up for every show we can between now and our first show. Mainly to evaluate talent, and see what everyone else is doing. You won't know we're there until after the show if at all, but that's the point.

I wanted to personally thank everyone for the support today while Brunella was under the knife. I know it was a minor procedure, but surgery is always risky. She should be back to 100% by the middle of next week and healed completely by mid-April. She is currently back at home resting comfortably with a couple of codone pills in her system.

I spent most of the day in a waiting room, but having people checking on us and dropping notes kept me busy, and I only paced around the outside of the building after I found out she was out of surgery, and couldn't take waiting to get to go see her. Again, thanks for the support.
